introduction the new world before discovery and the first contacts White Settler Reserve: New Iceland and the Colonization of the Canadian West:

In 1875 Icelandic immigrants established a colony on the southwest shore of Lake Winnipeg. The timing and location of New Iceland was not accidental. Across the Prairies the Canadian government was creating land reserves for Europeans in the hope that the agricultural development of Indigenous lands would support the state's economic and political ambitions. In this innovative history, Ryan Eyford expands our understanding of the creation of western Canada. His nuanced White Settler Reserve contextualizes the emigrant story and triangulates what is sometimes simplified into a binary relationship between settlers and Indigenous peoples lands and humans.
